

A Firewall Management Case Study

Criminal Internet Specialist

The Challenge

As a charity the organisation has to justify and minimise every expenditure, to be compliant they need good security and as a specialist in online crime they need the best security.

They needed a next generation firewall solution that would protect them from complex encrypted attacks, without breaking the bank.

The Solution

Softwerx were able to recommend Fortinet, a great value, top end solution.

There were cheaper options but none that provided the security the charity needed.

Fortinet's next generation firewalls provided the perfect balance between value and protection.

We needed the best security money can buy - and we can afford it with Fortinet.

The Outcome

Even a workforce as security conscious as one that works for a charity that specialises in online criminal activity needs protection.

The board are now confident that they are safe. They have ensured the security of their staff, service users and donors and taken a major step in compliance.

The scalable solution will protect them as they grow and as the ever increasing adoption of mobile devices, often user owned and managed, increases their potential attack surfaces.
