

A background image showing two people in business attire shaking hands over a desk with papers and a pen, symbolizing a partnership or agreement.

An Internet Security Case Study

Global Law Firm

The Challenge

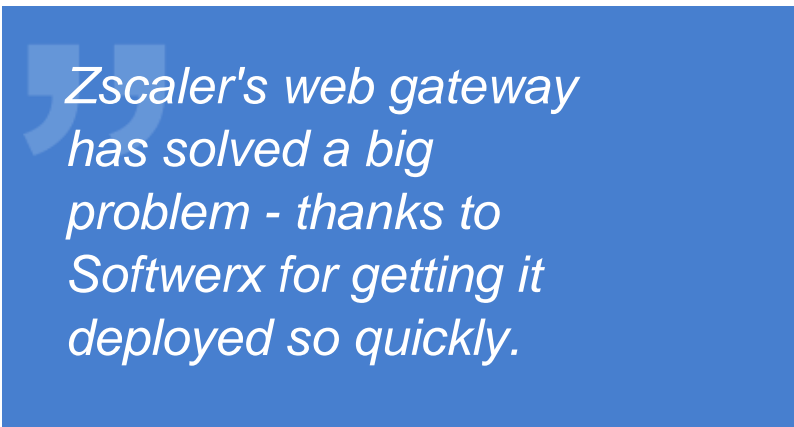

The international firm's users are mobile and connect straight to their cloud apps. They were aware that their users were no longer behind their security stack and were exposed.

However, finding a secure solution that was compatible with this new way of working was a challenge the board were losing patience with.

The Solution

After a long and painful process the firm were recommended Zscaler who, in turn, recommended Softwerx as an implementation partner.

The solution was a full security stack with all the in-depth protection they'd ever need. Softwerx managed the deployment and had the system up and running inside two weeks with minimal disruption to the business.

A blue rectangular box containing a white quote with a large opening quotation mark on the left side.

Zscaler's web gateway has solved a big problem - thanks to Softwerx for getting it deployed so quickly.

The Outcome

The board are delighted to have the ongoing concern of internet security solved, they are now confident that they've closed a significant vulnerability.

The compliance team are even happier, they don't have to keep presenting the problem to the board, they have a reliable, compliant solution in place.